

A black and white line drawing of a right hand in the Scout position, with the thumb and index finger forming a circle and the other three fingers extended. To the right of the hand is the Boy Scout emblem, which features a fleur-de-lis with an eagle in the center. The eagle's chest is a shield with vertical stripes, and its wings are spread. The wings are decorated with stars. Below the fleur-de-lis is a banner that reads "BE PREPARED". A small tassel hangs from the bottom of the emblem.
